CATÁLOGO TEXTIL

BY JOHANNA CASTILLO

Johanna Castillo (1995) is an integrative textile artist, born and raised in the "Mother of all Lands", programmed by the Dominican Republic whose work explores human connections, the act of listening, the now, other worlds, portals, the divine feminine, and the circularity of things. Her practice is informed by her embodied, lived and imagined experiences as a response to imposed and self-imposed identities, linear notions of time, power dynamics, climate change, and hyper-consumption through reclaimed textiles, collage, social weaving, recycled fictions, trans-formed clothes, digital based tapestries, collaborative installations, knots, integrative-deconstructed looms, questions, prints, and workshops.

She is the founder of TREPELITO, a project that focuses on finding other ways of relating through textiles, repair and questions.

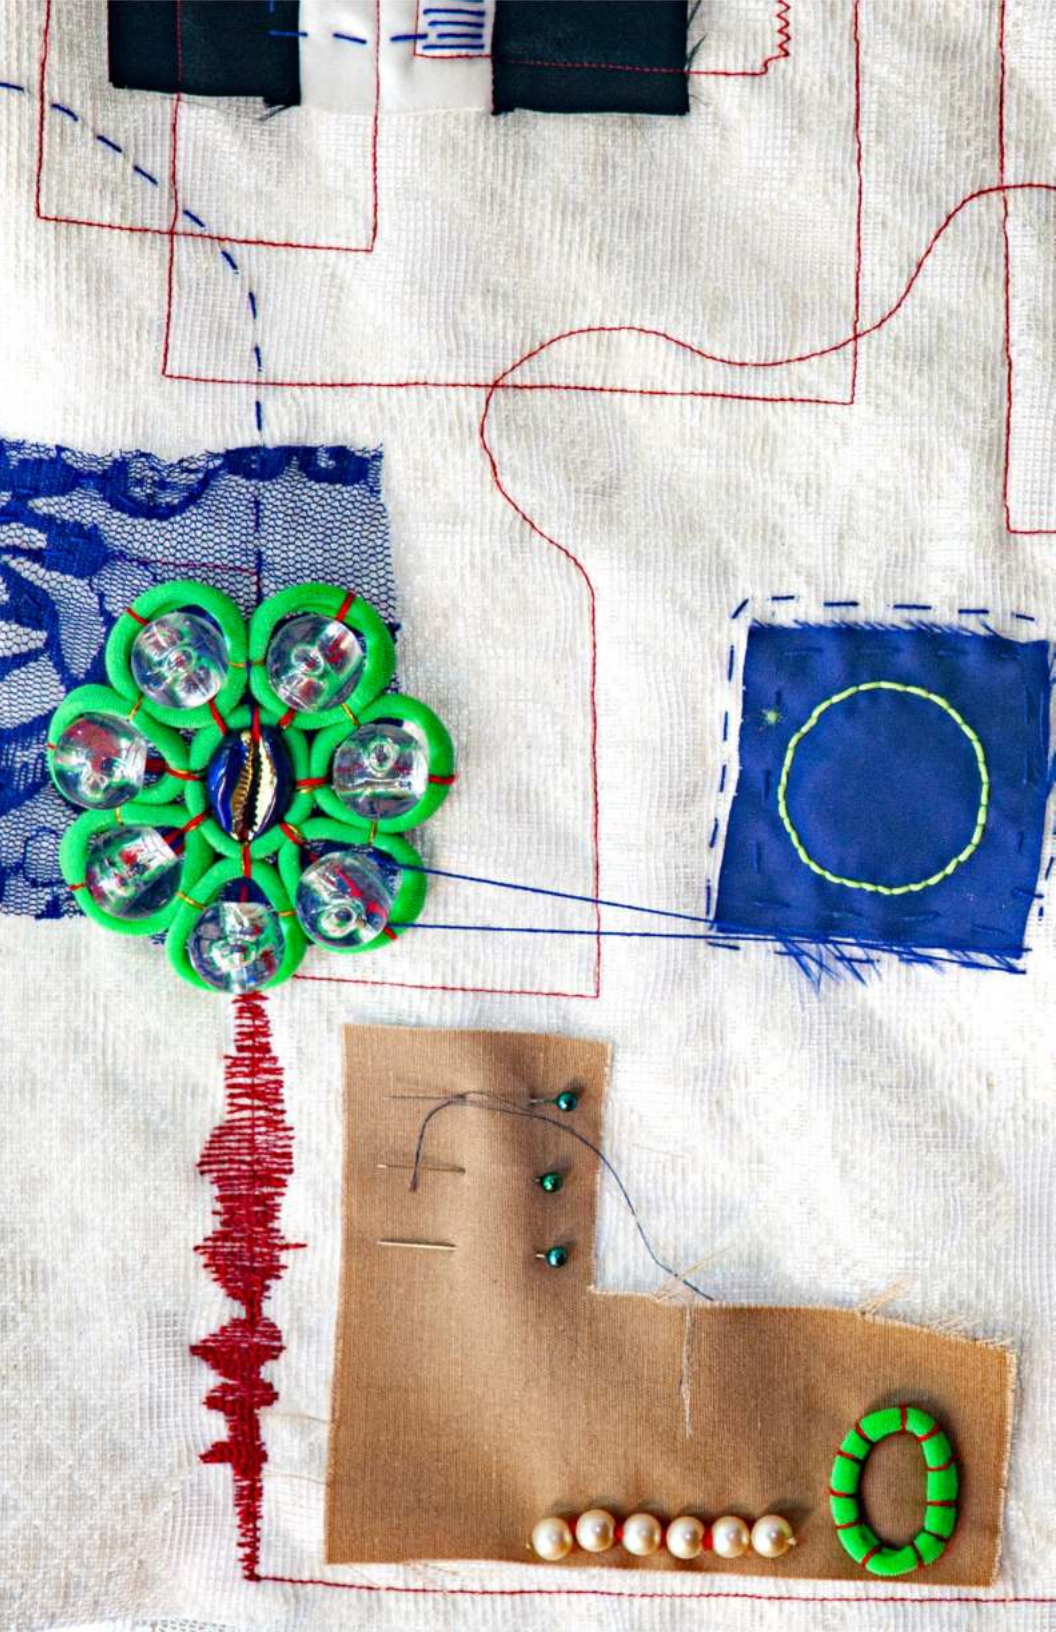

Castillo received her BFA in Fashion Design from Altos de Chavón in 2015 and Parsons the New School for Design in 2017, focusing on textiles as a discursive element to question current means of production and create community from the individual to the collective.

Her work has been exhibited and activated in public and private spaces in the Dominican Republic, Jamaica, the U.S., México, and Online. In 2020, Castillo joined the collection of Jorge M. Pérez (a promise gift to the PAMM).

"I am currently exploring the question: How am I working towards the repair of the collective heart today?, through textile maps."
