

NOMINATED FOR CONGRESS.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 10.—Judson C. Clements is the first Congressman from Georgia to secure a renomination. Eight years ago Judson Clements defeated Dr. Felton, the famous independent, who had wrestled the Seventh District from the Democracy. Clements only succeeded in unhorsing the doctor through his extended relationship. There were six of the Clements brothers, all men of self-assertion and some mark. They settled in as many different counties in the Seventh District, so that when Clements announced himself Dr. Felton had to fight the local issues of six counties instead of one. While Clements was completing his present term Major Blance and Judge Fain entered the race, and events appeared squally for the sitting member. Mr. Clements hurried home, only to find that his five brothers had kept the fences in good repair, which means that he will serve another term in Congress.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 10.—In the Third Illinois District, William E. Mason was nominated for Congress to-day, by the Republican Convention.

The New York Times

Published: July 11, 1886

Copyright © The New York Times