Mrs. Daniel Lothrop.

Mrs. Daniel Lothrop, (Margaret Sidney,) author of "A Little Maid of Concord Town," "Old Concord, Her Highways and Byways," &c., who is the present owner of The Wayside, in Concord, Mass., the home of Nathaniel Hawthorne, is about to sail on the Teutonic for a year abroad. She will be accompanied by her daughter, Miss Margaret Lothrop, and her friend, Miss Putnam, both recently from Smith College. Mrs. Lothrop has corrected the proofs for a new book to be brought out in the Autumn by the Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Company of Boston. She has planned several important literary undertakings to be completed on the other side of the ocean.

The New York Times
Published: July 1, 1905
Copyright © The New York Times