

BASKET BALL AT BARNARD.

One Hundred Girls Clamoring for Places on the Teams.

Barnard College students are keen for basket ball. In fact they are so keen that Dr. Edgar Fauver, the athletic coach, is beset, three times a week, by one hundred enthusiasts, all clamoring at once for a place on the teams. When Dr. Fauver began to coach the Barnard girls in basket ball five years ago, he had a hard time trying to get out enough girls for one team, but this year there are so many candidates that he has four teams besides the 'Varsity.

Regular practice began a week ago, and several stars have already been found in the freshman class. But there is no one to make up for the loss of Miss Mamie Wegener, the "crack shot," as she is called. She left college this Fall. Several of last year's 'Varsity players are out again this year, among them Miss Lilian Schroedler, Captain; Miss Ethel Leveridge, star forward; Miss Frank Randolph, Miss Dorothy Cheesman, Miss Molly Conroy, and the two Gleason sisters.

The first 'Varsity game is scheduled for Dec. 17, when Barnard will line up against Teachers' College. There will also be several inter-class games before the holidays.

But what every one, including "grads" and "undergrads," is looking forward to, is the alumnae games. It is a well-known fact that the alumnae team is not to be spoken of lightly, for among its members are the Smithers sisters, who still have the record for the best players that ever went to Barnard. And besides, there are Nanette Hamburger, last year's 'Varsity Captain, and Florence Sammet, last year's alumnae Captain.

All the games are played in the Thompson Gymnasium, and although the younger Horace Mann boys regularly fill the balconies, there is a pervading spirit that Columbia men are not welcome.

GEORGETOWN OUTCLASSED.

Columbia Basket Ball Team Smothers Washington Boys on Court.

The Georgetown basket ball team was smothered by the Columbia five in a game in the Morningside gymnasium last night by the score of 49 to 12. The greater part of Columbia's scoring came in the first half when the 'Varsity line-up remained intact, Ted Klendl playing his usual star game by throwing six goals from the field in this period. The score at the end of the half was 31 to 4.

For the first ten minutes of play the Georgetown boys played fast ball, but they soon tired and could not even out-play Columbia's substitute line-up of the second period. L. F. Martin, Georgetown's right forward, played the fastest game for the Washington team. The line-up:

Fourth Regiment A. A. Games.

The first games of the season of 1910-11 of the Fourth Regiment A. A. take place at the armory in Jersey City on Saturday evening, Dec. 17. The programme comprises two sets of closed events—one open to members of the regiment, the other to the schoolboys of the city—and promises to be one of unusual interest. In the regimental games Joe McGuinness and Chester Carr of Company D should figure well up in the 50-yard dash and the 880-yard run respectively. Miller of Company G is looked upon to capture the mile, and Charley Lamb of Company D the high jump.

Columbia Hockey Team's Trip.

A Christmas trip has been planned for the Columbia hockey team for this year, a feature in the training of the Morningside seven which has been lacking for several seasons. The team will go as far as Cleveland, playing the Western Reserve on Dec. 22 and the Case School of Applied Science on the following evening. Coach Le Seurer has a squad of twenty-one men reporting at St. Nicholas Rink for practice twice a week, and is confident of turning out a team that will show up better in the collegiate games than it has for the past few seasons. The men are already developing better form under the Canadian's coaching, in spite of the fact that he has been with them only a little over a month. Among the new men out J. S. Bates is doing good work at shooting. Bates was ineligible last year, but will be on Columbia's forward line this Winter.
