

continuance of professional coaching, but the universities have decided to cling to paid instructors for the baseball candidates. Lush resides in this city. He has been a member of Boston, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Detroit nines in the major leagues. He is Yale's basketball as well as baseball coach and is now in charge of the basketball five.

LUSH TO COACH YALE NINE.

Professional Ball Player to Instruct Elis Another Season.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 12.—Yale has decided to retain professional baseball coaching and has reappointed Billy Lush, the former big leaguer, as coach of the team for next season. Capt. Alan Corey of the team to-night announced that he had signed Lush for the year. This will be Lush's sixth season as Yale's coach. Two nines coached by him won from both Harvard and Princeton, two were beaten and last year's nine won from the Crimson but lost to the Tigers.

Lush's selection has been delayed several weeks owing to correspondence between Yale and Harvard relating to the
